

COMMENTARY ON REMITTANCES, MARCH 2017

The Central Bank of Kenya conducts a survey on remittance inflows every month through formal channels that include commercial banks and other authorized international remittance service providers in Kenya.

Remittance inflows to Kenya increased by 4.6 percent to USD 147.5 million in March 2017 from USD 141.1 million in March 2016. On a monthly basis, remittances increased by 3.4 percent from USD 142.7 million in February to USD 147.5 million in March 2017 (Table 1). The improvement reflected increased inflows from North America and Europe (Table 2).

The 12-month cumulative inflow to March 2017 was 8.9 percent higher at USD 1,741.3 million compared to USD 1,599.5 million in March 2016. The 12 month average flow also sustained an upward trend to USD 145.1 million in March 2017 from USD 133.3 million during the same period (Chart 1). Remittances as a share of GDP stabilized at 2.3 percent over the twelve months to March 2017. Remittances are an important and regular source of foreign exchange in the money market.
